EDITORIAL

The Class of Fourteen, in publishing this Delphian, which is larger and (we hope) better than any previous edition, is not trying to set a pace for its successors, but is merely keeping up with the growth of Charlotte High. It is the purpose of this book to review the activities of the several classes along Literary, Social and Athletic lines; and by a careful perusal of these pages one can see that our activities have not been bounded by the narrow limits of our high school building. With a larger building the growth of this high school is destined to be even more rapid than it has been during the past decade.

One evidence of our progress is our stereopticon machine. The stereopticon slides have been a great help to the chemistry, physics and history classes and to the students of the city in general. We hope that a wireless outfit will be installed next year. Let the good work go on!

We believe in reciprocity. Most of the business men have advertised in this Delphian. Let us show our appreciation by patronizing the Delphian advertisers.

It would be hard to find a more loyal group of people anywhere than the student body of Charlotte High School. During the past year, whether the contestant be trying his skill in declamation, oratory or athletics, the student body has turned out to yell, and to give moral and verbal support. This enthusiasm has never failed to bring out the best that was in the contestant.

We would like to see some modern dictionaries installed in the new building.

REMINISCENCES

While the buzz of the saw and the clang of the hammer are near, in preparation of the long-looked-for edifice—a new High School building—the realization of our fondest dreams, it is but natural that we become reminiscent.

Time moves all too swiftly for most of us, but in no other way is its onward sweep more emphatically forced upon us than when we try to keep pace with schools. Little girls with the white aprons and curls of yesterday are the sweet, girl graduates of today. The red-cheeked little boys we knew so well in the yesterday, are the dignified young men of today. And invariably we say, "My, how young they graduate, NOW!" when in reality these young people are just as old, just as staid, and just as clever as we were when we were Seniors.

And too, it is not easy for those outside the school life to realize how rapidly the schools are growing. At the sound of the gong for dismissal, TWO HUNDRED SEVENTY-TWO pupils pour forth from the High School building—a large number, indeed, when you stop to think that in 1900 only about half that number, ONE HUNDRED FORTY-TWO, made up the total enrollment. The seventh and eighth grades were also in this building at that time and though these have long since been transferred to the ward schools, the High School building is still inadequate to meet the requirements of the four regular High School grades.

We are justly proud of our city and its schools, and we sometimes boast of the fact that there are eighty pupils in our eighth grade—the grade where many, alas, too many, both boys and girls, drop school for more alluring paths. Of these eighty pupils, fully ninety per cent will go on to the High School. Figure it out by any manner of means and, swelled by the twenty or thirty non-residents that are sure to enter the Freshman Class, this number will be increased to one hundred Freshmen, who will enter the High School next September. When one hundred enter in the fall and only forty-five leave in the previous June by graduation, some room, somewhere, must be made for the oncoming, ever-increasing hordes. And we are glad to make the room! We are glad that boys and girls are coming to see the advantages of an education; glad that fathers and mothers, more and more, are urging the onward step; and glad especially, that the homes, without children, can feel it in their hearts to help, uncomplainingly, other homes to educate their young people. America and Michigan in general, or Charlotte in particular, may have faults, but a penurious spirit toward schools and education is not one of them! Nothing, absolutely nothing, is a greater monument to the forethought and generosity of a community than its public schools, for they are, without exception, the one thing of common interest.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

And so we rejoice with the parents, with the teachers, and with the pupils, that September will open to them a new building, well-heated and lighted and ventilated—indeed a new era in school facilities in Charlotte.

Yet, in many respects there is an under-current of pathos in the contemplation of the new regime. Never again will the class of this year or past years plant their feet in the time-worn hollows of the little staircase; never again will gas be lighted of necessity in the study halls; never again will school close because of cold; never again will basket ball be held in the gloomy barracks! And while we rejoice that this is true, there is an indefinable sadness in the thought that the old shall so soon be effaced to give place to the new. As we grow to manhood or womanhood even the patterns in the wall paper and carpets at home become friends to us, and home is never the same when we return and find the old relegated to the attic. However, in the greater thought, that as the new comes we strive to be ready for it and grow attached to it in turn, so the husks of our outgrown souls scale off, leaving us a newer, fresher outlook on the life that is before us. The trials and vicissitudes of today become the bridges which span the rivers of tomorrow, to lead us to the greater opportunities beyond.

The old building has sent from its doors men and women who have wrought honor and fame for themselves and the school, as well as men and women who have also lived true, honest, clean lives in happier though humbler spheres.

Could the corner-stone of the new building hold my secret wish, it would be that the NEW might continue the glory of the OLD; it would be that the new might be the forerunner of all that is uplifting and ennobling in manhood and womanhood; it would be that the NEW might bring all that is bright and beautiful and lovely to the lives of these young people, and through them, to other lives, less happily situated!

C. H. Carrick.

DRIFTWOOD

I was interested one day in watching a small barge working on a channel off Lake Michigan. The crew was busy gathering up pieces of floating timber and bits of wood from the water. I asked an old fisherman who stood near by the object of their work, and he said, "It is driftwood from recent wrecks. They are hauling it ashore for if left it would be very dangerous to navigation and might overturn many a frail boat if allowed to toss about, so we gather it up for firewood."

I have wondered since if there were not similar wrecks and driftwood upon the sea of life, cast by the storms of chance into our path, that floated aimlessly about and, coming in contact with our boats, proved disastrous to our sailing. Driftwood—the result of some wreck—cast off by a storm that proved too much for some ship, and now in distorted and misshapened form, floats here and there bringing ruin and destruction; driftwood from a ship whose goal was never reached, bringing in turn failure to all it meets. Wrecked by a storm, it too becomes a wrecker, and caught by the current, dashes against other boats in careless and fiendish delight. It sailed from an unknown harbor and is no longer port bound—a cunning deception of harmless shadows in blackened waters; a mockery passing just beyond the hand of him who drowns.

Is not the unoccupied man or woman but a piece of driftwood, guided by no pilot of ambition, bound toward no port of accomplished hopes? He floats wherever chance may toss him, and, being himself wrecked, in turn becomes a destroyer of all that is good and pure. He overturns the frail boats, and many a soul goes down to be numbered with the lost at sea. There are lights in the windows of thousands of homes waiting for those who can never return. They sailed in life's morning proudly out to sea, but alas—some were wrecked before they were out of sight from the shore; some sailed out into deep sea and sank there, and casting up again, their black and hideous hulls became menacing driftwood.

Have you the strength of character to burn the driftwood that comes into your path? Can you repulse the idler who destroys your best purposes in life?

Shakespeare, in the following lines, gives us the rule by which to live:

“Then to thine own self be true,
And it must follow, as the night the day,
Thou can’st not then be false to any man.”

—Conscello Cole.

Charlotte, May 20, 1914.

Dear Old Grad. of 1913:

So you are wondering what is happening up at school and are sure there is “nothing doing” with you away? Really, your love for your class has misled you in regard to the abilities of others.

Strange as it may seem, Charlotte High School is still on a good working basis. I won’t say that we don’t miss you, but then, we are still able to keep things going. The school still stands with open doors to receive us at eight-thirty every morning. The old teachers, as well as some new ones, are just as glad (?) to see us as of old. Miss Sanford still acts as guard at the head of the stairs, but we miss the cheerful smile of Miss Chamberlin that greeted us as we reached the foot of the stairs, and in her place sometimes we see Mr. Lynch, and sometimes Mr. Kroodsmā, who occasionally greets us with a bashful smile but more often with sincere expression of doing his duty. Needless to say, Miss Howard continues to superintend all Sophomore affairs. Still at forty-five-minute intervals the electric bell shrills loudly in the various class rooms and echoing halls, and the class-room doors are thrust open, and from all corners, from all floors, the restless inmates surge out, laughing and talking and crowding one another in good-humored friendliness. The hum of conversations that follow the scrambling and hurrying, the outbursts of laughter, the abbreviated draughts from the same old fountain, the couples in secluded corners, the passing of notes in the hall—all seen and heard as in the days of old. Even from room 2 may be heard the incessant tapping of Miss VanKleek’s pencil which reminds one of a physician testing the lungs of a patient. As of old she still reminds us that a new month is beginning and that we must be careful if we expect our E’s. In fact everything runs on in the same old way. As in the past, the first day of school a strange host of adventurers appeared, the same renowned hue and all, but then remember, Mr. Grad. of 1913, even you were once a Freshman.

The Girls’ Glee Club is still heard warbling, and in addition to this is heard the excellent music rendered by the orchestra, a luxury which you did not have.

Even outsiders are interested in us though you are gone, and honor us by speaking at our assemblies which are irregularly on Wednesday mornings. So far we've had the privilege of hearing Mr. Pattengill of Lansing, who gave us a splendid talk mixed with many witty remarks. We have also heard Rev. Slee, who gave us a sketch of Lincoln's life, and Rev. VanAuken, who gave us a sketch of the life of George Washington. Rev. Davids, and Mr. Hobart, the Y. M. C. A. secretary, rendered fine speeches concerning our purposes in life. We were surprised as well as pleased one afternoon at the appearance of the male quartette of the Williams' Minstrels, who sang a few fine selections.

In athletics we do not shine as much as some of our predecessors perhaps, but still we have won a great deal of honor on the football field and track, as well as in basket ball and base ball. A great deal of enthusiasm has been put into athletics through our rousing mass meetings held before each game.

We still have a few days' vacation, which we are granted throughout the year, and when we go back with rested minds we go with a determination to work harder than ever.

So you see, C. H. S. runs on in the same old way, and (even my pride must allow me to admit it) will after we are gone. Still, I know your wishes and ours are always for the success of Old Charlotte High.

Sincerely,

A Member of Class of '14.

DECLAMATORY--ORATORICAL CONTESTS

LOCAL

This year, perhaps, there was much more interest than usual aroused in the declamatory-oratorical contest. The preliminary contest to select representatives from the Charlotte High School to the sub-district contest, was held at the Congregational Church on Tuesday evening, March 24. It was largely attended and was said to have been one of the best contests ever held in this locality.

The outcome was somewhat of a surprise to many, as a Freshman who entered largely for experience in declamation, took first place.

IN THE WOODS

Violets blue as summer's sky
 Look shyly up as I pass by.
 Lilies white with hearts pure gold,
 And May-flowers pink their petals unfold,
 Close beside the silver brook
 Are nestled ferns in a shady nook.
 Tiny fish dart to and fro,
 And the rushes now are bending low,
 The lively squirrels whisk up the tree,
 Now comes Robin's "Cheer up, chee, chee."
 The chipmunk scolds with all his might,
 Thru the leaves the sun shines bright.
 Faintly sounds a tinkling bell
 Thru that lovely fairy dell.
 A gentle breeze stirs all the wood,
 Nature is singing, "God is good."

—Thelma K. Dickinson.

A SUMMER'S DAY IN THE WOODS

A low, breathing zephyr, a whispering breeze,
 A gentle movement among the leaves,
 A soft downy cloud against the blue,
 A note of a bird as upward it flew,
 The spirit of summer breathes soft thru the wood,
 All nature is telling that God is good.

A drifting of clouds fast hiding the sky,
 A waving of treetops, a bird's startled cry,
 A moment's hush, the wind's low moan,
 An eddy, a gust, a storm-cloud's groan,
 A rising gale, and a lightning's flash,
 A storm tells its tale in the rain's swift dash.

A dripping of rain-drops from wind-shaken trees,
 A glitter of sunlight aslant thru the leaves,
 In a wild flower's chalice a rainbow gleams,
 From a drop there imprisoned a diamond dreams;
 The sunset's glow, a robin's call,
 And peace and love are brooding o'er all.

—Stella Marie Graves.

TO A HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

———
(With Apologies to Bryant.)
———

Whither midst stinging sleet,

While peals the bell at the beginning of day,
On through the slippery street
Dost thou pursue thy perilous way?

Seekst thou that hall of fame

Where teachers wise and books galore
Unite to help thee win the name
Of student, learning more and more?

Thou art gone, the house of eternal preaching

Hath swallowed up thy form; yet on the heart

Of younger pupils sinks the lesson thou art teaching,
And shall not soon depart.

There is a pony whose aid

Guides thru each hateful, dreaded chapter
Thy way in safety and unafraid,
Saved from blunders and ungodly laughter.

Vainly the teacher's eye

May watch thy every move to do thee wrong,
As swiftly now and on the sly
Thy notes are passed along.

Note books which from year to year

Have guided thru the endless toil
The people who have labored here,
Wilt save thee, so thou must not fear.

VALEDICTORIAN

Our Valedictorian has the distinction and honor of having the highest average ever recorded in Charlotte High. This average, 97.7% for the four years, has been won through persistent and conscientious effort on her part. Although Miss Sackett has been hindered at times by ill-health, she has kept up her school work and has finished with colors flying. The Class of 1914 takes a certain pride in the mark set by Miss Sackett and through the past four years the spirit of industry has so inspired the class that many members have higher averages than some Valedictorians of previous years.

APPLIED GEOMETRY

Given: A Sense of Humor to prove: That it belongs to the Seniors.

First, by proposition 5 that appearances are deceitful, we know that Mr. Tollert is blessed with this sixth sense.

By corollary I to proposition 2 that "love is blind," we know that Mr. Osborn has unfortunately lost his sight and since every normal being possesses five senses, we know that he has been given a sense of humor to take the place of the one of which he has been so cruelly deprived.

Also we know that J. Lewis Dolson possesses this sense, which fact is self-evident and needs no proof.

By proposition 12 that everybody loves a cheerful man, we know that Mr. Eorton must also possess it.

By proposition 3 that a sense of humor is the only quality which can save a quick tempered man from ruin, we prove that Mr. Ammon is blest with it.

That Mr. Gilchrist, Mr. Sears and Mr. Marple also have a sense of humor is proven by the proposition that "a little nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men."

By the color of their hair, we know that Miss Beard and Miss Clara Davics are afflicted with quick tempers and by corollary 1 to proposition 3 we know that a sense of humor always goes with a quick temper.

By the very satisfied expression on their faces, we know that Miss Scott and Miss Hageman must surely possess all the womanly virtues including a sense of humor.

That Miss Pollock also possesses it is self-evident from the fact that after safely escaping from this Castle of Discontent, she came back to endure it another year.

Miss Dickinson's sense of humor is shown by her ability to argue without ever becoming excited or losing her temper.

Miss Hamilton's and Miss Millenbacher's sense of humor is proven by the minus quantity of their E's in conduct.

Miss Lepard's sense of humor is proven by her pretended childlike belief in fairies, elves and fays.

By proposition 1 that birds of a feather flock together, we know that all the rest of this class is blessed with a keen perception of humor.

JUNIOR BANQUET

And so say we all! The Seniors were surfeited with toothsome viands at the Junior Banquet of '13. The banquet was held in the dining room of the Masonic Temple and this fine room was turned into a bower of beauty for the occasion. The class colors, green and gold, were used in the decorations in a most effective way. Baskets of roses hung from each chandelier and the tables were decorated with candelabra. The class flower, a yellow rose, lay at each plate. The menu cards were very attractive.

memorable evening.

BASE BALL BANQUET

A banquet was tendered to the base ball boys by the Freshmen girls, at the Congregational Church, June 11, 1913. The walls were covered with pennants and appropriate place cards were used. Miss Van Kleeck, Mr.
Carriek, Mr. Lane and Mr. Koepfgen were present at the banquet. The following menu was served:

Impromptu speeches were given by the members of the faculty that were present and by the boys. All adjourned, after spending a very pleasant evening.

FOOT BALL BANQUET

A banquet was given in honor of the foot ball boys and the Board of Control by the Junior and Senior girls in the Congregational Church. The parlors were beautifully decorated with pennants and appropriate place cards were used. The following menu was served and the boys seemed to fully enjoy it:

After this dinner each member of the team was called upon for a short speech, Mr. Kilian acting as toastmaster.
Mr. Osborn, the captain, made his farewell address to the team and Leon Roosa was elected captain for the year

THE HIGH SCHOOL SENATE

The High School Senate has another year of work to its credit and has demonstrated its right to exist as a school institution for all time. The meetings have been held regularly on Tuesday evening of each week and with very few exceptions they have been such as to inculcate not only a spirit of patriotism and an interest in the laws which govern us as a people, but gave us a knowledge of the making of the laws in general.

The first meeting was held early in December and the following officers were elected:

Lewis Dolson—President.
 George Fenn—Vice-President.
 Paul Carriek—Secretary-Treasurer.
 Frank Cobb—Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.
 Fern Walter—Sergeant-at-Arms.
 Carl Borton—Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms.

New members to the number of sixteen were taken in and the work began running in its usual routine. One thing in particular that characterized the work of the year was the fact that the discussions were very general, in fact, no senator, from whatsoever district, failed to represent it properly and with its interests paramount, as a dignified senator should. Bills and resolutions, pertaining to the immediate welfare of the state were discussed and some of them brought forth heated arguments and debates. Foremost among these was the motion for an amendment to the constitution which barred the President and Secretary from representing a district in the senate. This allows two more members to derive the benefit of the senate and enter into the discussions. In fact, we of the senate feel that the people of Michigan will be greatly benefited by the laws passed by this "conservative body of senators."

As in previous years a play, "The Princess of Poe," was given for the benefit of the Senate. The proceeds were used to defray the expenses of the Senate and for the cost of the annual banquet.

The following is the list of bills introduced and the outcome of each:

- Bill No. 1. Relative to Morals—Thornton. Carried.
- Bill No. 2. Relative to fire drills and the use of fire escape—Smith. Carried.
- Bill No. 3. Relative to deer hunting in the state of Michigan—Norton. Carried.
- Bill No. 4. Relative to higher education of the citizens of the State of Michigan who lack funds necessary for such education—Bintz. Lost.
- Bill No. 5. Relative to the establishment of a vocational school at Traverse City—Grimes. Carried.

Bill No. 6. Relative to unnecessary spreading of diseases—Bangs. Lost.

Bill No. 7. Relative to unit system in rural districts.—Cobb. Carried.

Bill No. 8. Relative to promotion of public safety—Spitler. Carried.

Bill No. 9. Relative to the killing and shipping of heifers, heifer calves and cows in the state of Michigan—Borton. Carried.

Petition No. 1. For the posting of bills, resolutions and petitions—Grimes. Carried.

Petition No. 2. To provide for the immediate suppression of the disasters in the Calumet strike regions—Tolbert. Lost.

Petition No. 3. For the repealing of the act requiring all senators to introduce a bill or petition—Walters. Carried.

“ THE GYPSY ROVER ”

By reason of long established custom, the Juniors must perforce, banquet the Seniors. Money, and much of it is necessary to banquet them. To this end it was decided to give a play.

THE STORY OF THE PLAY

The story of the play has to do with the life of Gilbert Howe, a scion of nobility, who is kidnapped by a band of Gypsies when a small boy and given the name of Rob. Reared with the Gypsies, he one day encounters Miss Constance, a daughter of Sir George Martindale, who is lost in the woods, and pilots her to safety. The happy couple fall in love, and Rob, the Gypsy Rover, visits her home and serenades her, inviting her to elope with him. Plans for her elopement are broken up by Sir

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The work of the High School Glee Club was renewed with vigor this fall. The club felt the loss of many of their members who graduated in the class of '13, especially Bess Whitcomb, who had been so faithful to the club and who was president for two years. However, the club was reorganized and elected the following officers:

President—Margaret Spaulding.

Vice-President—Helen Hageman.

Secretary—Helen Spencer.

Treasurer—Thelma Dickinson.

Miss Brooks was the club's accompanist for a while and upon tendering her resignation the place was filled by Miss Vera Maynard. Under the efficient leadership of Miss Miller, the success of the club was assured.

GLEE CLUB AT GRESHAM

The High School Glee Club went to Gresham, March 4, 1914, to appear as the third number on the Gresham Lecture Course. The girls went in two sleighloads and at their journey's end a fine supper was served them in the basement of the church. They presented their entertainment in the evening. They were assisted by readings by Grace Fox and Cora Millenbacher. The girls returned to Charlotte late in the evening after a very enjoyable trip.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The association this year pledged 158 members which is a gain of 48 over 1912. They elected the following officers:

President—Ellsworth Norton.

Vice-President—Lewis Dolson.

Treasurer—H. H. Kilian.

Secretary—Helen Hageman.

Board of Control—Ellsworth Norton, Fern Walter, Helen Hageman, Milo Osborn.

When the association started the season, old bills kept coming in from former years which had not been paid. We paid them. Season tickets were put out for foot ball, basket ball and base ball. The Senate donated some money from the receipts of the Senate play and the Junior Class also gave to the cause.

FOOT BALL

Three days after school began the call for foot ball candidates was issued and a goodly number responded. Although only Sowers, Roosa, Marple, W. Smith and Osborn (captain) were back from the team of 1912, the material looked good, and under the careful tutorage of Coach Kilian, were whipped nicely into shape for the Alumni game on September 13. The "Greybeards" proved rather harder to tackle than expected, but the

ELLSWORTH NORTON

MILO OSBORN

High School managed to score one touchdown while the Alumni were trying to get within kicking distance.

Score—C. H. S. 6, Alumni 0.

On the 20th our old foe, Eaton Rapids, came to town. With the same team that beat us in 1912 they managed to run up 21 points. Borton, our plunging full-back, made some very spectacular plays, one being a forty yard run through the entire Eaton Rapids team for a touchdown. The other Charlotte touchdown was also made by Borton on a line plunge. Marple kicked goal.

Score—E. R. H. S. 21, C. H. S. 13.

The new suits arrived at this time and made considerable difference in the appearance of the team. September 27 the team journeyed to the Capitol City. Lansing, which was out for the state championship this year, ran rings around the boys the first half, but the last half they were able to secure only three touchdowns. Borton and Marple, and the ends, Roosa and Walters, showed up particularly well on defense. Horn recovered a fumble and went within ten yards of Lansing's goal but was downed at that point and a place kick failed.

Score—Lansing 98, C. H. S. 0.

The 8th of October the team, with about half the high school students, went to Eaton Rapids. For three quarters the boys held the unbeaten Eaton Rapids scoreless. The last quarter Eaton Rapids scored two touchdowns on fake plays. Sowers, after playing the game of his life for three quarters, went out with a sprained ankle.

Score—E. R. H. S. 14, C. H. S. 0.

On the 22d of October the fast Hastings eleven met the boys on the home grounds. The game was played in a torrent of rain and Charlotte came out at the big end of a 20 to 0 score. Hastings did not threaten the goal lines at any time. McIntyre was very much in evidence with his wide end runs.

Score—C. H. S. 26, H. H. S. 0.

Mason, who ran up such a large score in 1912, came to our beautiful city on the 25th very confident. They found the boys were not so soft as expected, and it was only by luck that they were able to shove over one touchdown. In the third quarter Marple got away for a touchdown but was called back by the referee because some of his teammates were off-side.

Score—M. H. S. 7, C. H. S. 0.

November 8 Nashville came over and although the snow was falling, the game was played and Charlotte managed to slip and slide across the line for two touchdowns.

Score—C. H. S. 12, N. H. S. 0.

On the 15th the team played in Hastings. Although they were on a strange field they amassed a total of 21 points. This was possible by the fine line-bucking of Borton, full back, and Marple and McIntyre, half backs, and the forward passes received by the ends, Roosa and Walters. This was the cleanest game during the season.

Score—C. H. S. 28, H. H. S. 0.

The 22d, the Alumni again sought a game that was played in a heavy rainstorm. Marple was out with a sprained ankle. The ball was slippery and on a high kick it rolled over the line and was recovered by an Alumnus.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Score—Alumni 6, C. H. S. 0.

Thanksgiving day the crack team of Rockford wished a game on their home grounds. Coach Kilian was delayed in Grand Rapids and nearly missed his train, but the team finally arrived in Rockford on time. In the first two minutes of play Charlotte scored a touchdown, but after that the Rockford team was invincible and Charlotte lost heart. Bintz, Borton and Roosa featured in defensive work. Marple made the only touchdown by the locals on a line plunge after Walters carried a long pass for a thirty yard gain.

Score—R. H. S. 41, C. H. S. 6.

BASKET BALL

The Association secured the rink again this year for a basket ball floor, and when the call for candidates by Captain Bintz and Coach Oberlin was issued, a goodly number responded. A series of class games was arranged and thus helped matters along in the way of interest.

On the 8th of December the Oronoco-Alumni team, composed of old C. H. S. players—Hill, G. Steady, Marple,

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Parker, Frace and Higby—went up against the High School team, composed of Bintz (captain), H. Smith, Fenn, Hubbard, Borton and Osborn. Practice and condition helped the C. H. S. to win. The game was featured by the work of Osborn, whose shooting was excellent.

Score—C. H. S. 24, Oronoco 17.

Coach Oberlin resigned his position at Christmas vacation and it was taken up by Kroodsma.

On the 15th of January, Olivet (coached by former C. H. S. Coach Lane) came to Charlotte. Our guards proved invincible and our forwards ran up 24 points on them. Osborn and Smith were the stars of the game.

Score—C. H. S. 24, Olivet 11.

The next Tuesday a mid-week game was arranged with Hastings. Hastings came prepared to revenge the two foot ball defeats at our hands in the fall. The game was hard fought and fast but clean. At the end of the half the score stood with Hastings one basket in the lead, but the last half the boys "tightened up" and played together and the final score stood in favor of C. H. S. "Red" Hubbard starred.

Score—C. H. S. 33, H. H. S. 18.

The next Tuesday the team journeyed to East Lansing. Here they were handicapped by a slippery floor and the girders which crossed the building.

Score—C. H. S. 13, E. L. H. S. 33.

On the 30th, Marshall was visited. Marple was still out with a bad ankle, which hindered the team some. The game was featured by considerable rough playing and the final score was in favor of Marshall.

Score—C. H. S. 8, M. H. S. 26.

February 4, sleighs were taken to Olivet. The Olivet boys were there to play but were rather slow to find the C. H. S. forwards and "when the smoke of battle cleared away" Charlotte was in the lead.

Score—C. H. S. 32, O. H. S. 10.

February 6, Eaton Rapids came to Charlotte. A large crowd was out but the "Greybeards" from the "Pickle" city were too strong and Charlotte went down to defeat. "Red" Hubbard starred, making all 9 points.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Score—C. H. S. 9, E. R. H. S. 19.

On the 13th Lansing appeared on the scene, and had the boys played as good a game as they did at Olivet, they would have won.

Score—C. H. S. 13, E. L. H. S. 24.

February 16 the team went to Eaton Rapids, and after their cold ride were compelled to play without supper. There was practically no team work pulled off by Charlotte. Borton was easily the individual star of the team.

Score—C. H. S. 11, E. R. H. S. 59.

On the 27th Marshall came here thinking they would have an easy time. C. H. S. team work was good and individual work by Fenn and Bintz helped to hold the "Marshallites" down to an 11 to 6 score.

Score—C. H. S. 6, M. H. S. 11.

A few changes were made in the line-up at this time. Fenn dropped out, Carriek took his guard, Borton took a guard and Bintz forward.

March 6, this combination went to Hastings. Hastings were out for revenge and although being repeatedly fouled, it was a good clean game. Carriek caused much comment by his fast work. They were a little strong for the boys, however, and annexed 24 tallies to 13 of the C. H. S. Osborn scored 9 of the 13 points for Charlotte.

Score—C. H. S. 13, Hastings 24.

March 13, the quintet from the State School for the Blind were taken into camp. The Blind School players were somewhat handicapped by the poor lighting system and the boys ran rings around them. Smith starred by taking 22 points.

Score—C. H. S. 58, L. B. S. 1.

On the 20th, the Alumni decided to connect with the basket enough to get our "goat" but failed, and the High School took it from them 26 to 18. Borton's basket shooting featured. Nichols played guard, Osborn being out of the game with a sprained shoulder.

Score—C. H. S. 28, Alumni 18.

The last game of the season was played on March 27 with the Blind School at Lansing. Their coach played with them and Charlotte could only annex 33 points to the Blind School's 18. After the game the boys were invited to the M. A. C. for the night as guests of Coach Kroodsma.

Score—C. H. S. 33, Blind School, 18.

The total number of points made by the opponents was 289 and the total number made by Charlotte was 311.

The Girls' Basket Ball team this year started with the old members—Celeste Wilson, Helen Cole and Frances Youngblood back from the team of 1912. Helen Scott, who had played before coming to Charlotte, was elected captain and Miss Van Kleek again assumed the duties of coach, and in a short time a team was picked consisting of Marie Seavolt, Frances Youngblood and Helen Scott forwards, Nema Stoddard jumping center, Helen Cole and Celeste Wilson guards.

The first team the girls met was Olivet at Charlotte on January 15. The girls played a fast, scrappy game, but the girls from the college town were too much for them and Olivet won. The work of Nema Stoddard and Belle Perkey at center was especially good.

Score—O. H. S. 11, C. H. S. 5.

Next came the East Lansing girls at East Lansing, January 23. The floor was slippery and the girls could not find their forwards. Frances Youngblood was Charlotte's star.

Score—E. L. H. S., 23, C. H. S. 12.

The following Friday Eaton Rapids came to town. The girls decided it was time to win a game, so they worked harder than ever, and when the smoke of battle cleared away Charlotte had doubled the Eaton Rapids score. Our guards played the game every minute and proved almost invincible.

Score—E. R. H. S. 6, C. H. S. 12.

The girls were somewhat elated over their victory over the "Pickleites," and at this time S. E. Cook presented the High School with jersey sweaters for the girls' team. We are all very thankful to Mr. Cook for his present.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

The girls became a trifle careless now, and when the East Lansing girls came on Friday they surprised the C. H. S. girls by slipping over an 11 to 8 score on them. Helen Scott suffered an injury and was forced to retire from the game, and Celeste Wilson was elected to fill the captaincy.

Tuesday, both boys' and girls' teams went to Olive'. Olive' had a combination that was hard to beat, and although the C. H. S. girls tried their best, the best they could do was to run up 3 points. Some of the regulars were unable to go and Myrna Bosworth and Mary Aulls (both players in 1912) went along to fill out the vacant places and both played excellent games.

Score—O. H. S. 9, C. H. S. 3.

The last game of the season was played at Eaton Rapids. The girls were all very eager to play. The first half the E. R. girls held them down, but the last half our girls shot baskets at will and kept the ball at the Charlotte end of the floor. Special mention should be made of the palying of Nema Stoddard, Belle Perkey and Frances Youngblood. The guards, Celeste Wilson and Helen Cole, who spoiled many plays for E. R., also deserve much praise.

Score—C. H. S. 13, E. R. H. S. 4.

After the season was over a banquet was given by Mrs. Wilson to the members of the team and a very enjoyable time was reported by those who had the pleasure of being invited.

TRACK

The outlook for track this spring is especially good. Harold Smith, Charlotte's greatest point getter last year, was elected captain, and work is progressing rapidly.

On Thursday afternoon, April 23, an inter-class meet was held to determine the members of the track team. The Sophomores won the meet with a total of 46 points. Juniors next with 43 points, Seniors with 19 points, and lastly the Freshman with 2 points. Smith (Captain) took 5 firsts and a total of 31 points. McIntyre came next with a total of 26 points.

 BASE BALL

As the warm days of spring came and the spring fever became very manifest all over the building, the call for base ball candidates was issued by Captain Walters and Coach Kilian. The number who responded far exceeded that of previous years and a good team is assured. The old men back were Sowers, Walters (captain), Horn, Shupp, McIntyre, Norton and Bobier. The new material was of the best quality, however, and when the journey to Nashville was taken, April 18, the boys showed their mettle. The boys made free connections with the ball and won by one score. Bobier pitched an excellent game for the locals and Shupp started his old tricks again by knocking a three-bagger.

The second game in the Tri-County League was played with Hastings, April 22, at Charlotte. The first inning the boys made a number of errors and Hastings ran in 3 scores. They soon settled down, however, and Hastings could not score again. Bobier in the box did excellent work for the locals, and Shupp knocked a three-bagger to deep right field. Sowers on third featured with a sensational double play.

Score—H. H. S. 3, C. H. S. 7.

Now don't get sore because this book

But the worst is yet to come.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Miss Sanford (enrolling new students in English history):
"Mac Newcomer—Dean Spittler—any more newcomers?"

Miss Bennett (after reading a story in Eng. III.): "Mr.
Carrick, recite the prologue."

Paul Carrick: "Haven't you any more stories?"

Mr. Oberlin: "What does the gastric juice contain?"

Student (stage whisper): "Gas!"

Mr. Kroodsma (in agricultural class): "In the corn belt hogs and corn are grown right together."

Miss Dennett: "What does the scowl mean?"

Mr. Dolson (puzzled): "Doesn't it mean love?"

First Student: "Some people smoke cigarettes to be smart, don't they?"

Second Student: "Yes, Freshmen."

If Marple should become a loaf-er what would Hig-by?

Student (after answering question correctly): "No, its a—

Miss Scott: "That was right."

Student: "I thought by your looks that it was wrong."

Miss Scott: "You don't want to go very far on my looks."

Mr. Kroodsma: "Who inherited the throne after William II?"

Wm. Smith: "The next youngest after the oldest son!"

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Rush Morrow: "P-r-p stands for preparation!"
Mr. Kilian: "No, that shows lack of preparation."

Shupp (in agricultural class): "I heard of a farmer who had a sandy farm located on a hill. The water wouldn't stay in the soil long enough to make a crop yield, so he decided to plant potatoes and onions together as an experiment.

Mott: "What did he do that for?"

Shupp: "He said the onions would make the potatoes' eyes water and irrigate the land."

Mr. Kroosma (disgustedly): "I heard that joke years and years ago."

Question: How old is he?

Milo (in the hall): "No, I don't care for any more corn Cobb. I haven't my Sack-ett yet."

Mr. Oberlin: "I didn't give you a zero because you were whispering, but because you didn't know the question!"

Wm. Smith: "You ought to tell me when you are going to call on me so I would know the question."

Mr. Oberlin: "But you are supposed to pay attention all the time. If you were walking across a highway and an automobile should run over you, it would be your fault."

Wm. Smith: "Yes, but an automobile would blow its horn first."

Mr. Lynch: "What would be the difference in kicking a football and in kicking a stone of the same size?"

Rochester: "Difference in speech."

Mr. Lynch: "Give an example of a porous object."
Bintz (aside to Fenn): "My old shoes."

A DEDICATION.

Of all the books in east or west,
Our history note-books are the best,
We'll keep them always till we die,
For Cole might need them bye and bye,
If she should chance to lose her own,
Of us she'd surely seek a loan.

Class of 1914.

Shupp: "I heard of a man who dove under water for two minutes. That's quite long, isn't it?"

Mr. Lynch: "Some times they stay longer than that."

E. Millenbacher: "We are going to have a sleighride party."
"Peanut" Tolbert: "Oh, Joy."

Miss Cole: "Did all the states have a constitution?"
Johnny Clark (waking up): "I can't know, I got one."

First Student: "I hear Bert Hoag is going to be a capitalist?"

Second Student: "What is his specialty to be?"

First Student: "Capitalizing the letter 'I'."

Velma Sackett: "I don't like Fay Newcomer. He said our Glee Club wasn't any good."

Doc: "I 'd hate to express my opinion of it"

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Miss Sanford: "What is it called when, after a country has been discovered, it is explored and settled? Not exploration, but what?"

Julius Wood: "Settlezation."

She: "Why do they cry out when a football player gets hurt?"

He: "So the others can't hear what he is saying."

Voice from Above: "Is that you Dean? You're very late aren't you?"

Spit (returning from Bob's): "It's only about-er—twelve, mother—I think." The cuckoo clock: "Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo!"

Spit (grasping situation instantly): "Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo! Cuckoo!"

"It's better to be a homely girl than a faded beauty." H. B.

Velma Sackett (looking at a picture in 1911 Delphian in which M. O. sits in the midst of a group of freshmen): "Why there's Milo! How comical he looks and his mouth is so funny. It isn't like that now."

"Well, when you reformed him his mouth changed, too!"

"Yes, I had so much to do with his mouth!"

Mr. Lynch: "What are multiple echoes?"

Marp: "One right after the other."

Mr. Lynch: "What are they like?"

Marp: "Sounds like thunder."

Mr. Kroodsmas: "They have an inspector to sample every bushel of peaches that comes on the market."

Grimes (in undertone): "I guess I'll get that job."

Stranger: "Are you married?"

Bintz: "No, I'm happy."

Stranger: "You could save a thousand dollars on your income tax."

Bintz: "Tain't worth it."

Miss Sanford (English history): "Describe the domestic life in England."

Spitler: "They have a dirty life."

FAMILIAR.

Barbara Curtis pokes Mr. Oberlin in the back and says: "Here you are old kid."

Mary Aulls: "Why do they give liquor to those nearly drowned?"

Cora Millentacher: "To make them sleep."

Mr. Oberlin: "I saw somebody hanging sour milk up in a bag to let the water run out. I suppose they were making cottage cheese."

"No, Mr. Oberlin, you supposed wrong. They were making brick ice cream to serve Freshmen at the Junior banquet."

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Mr. Kilian: "If you cìcn't have 'boy' on the brain you would get along better."

E. Erooms: "I love one and I am not ashamed of it."

Miss Van Kleek: "Wie heisst du?"

McConnell: "Sechs."

Mr. Oberlin: "We will hear your report now, Mr. Shupp!"

Mr. Shupp: "I tried to get the book of Cora Millenbacher last night and she wouldn't let me have it."

If Phoebe should marry a man named B. Beebe and should lose her Lee, where would Phoebe B. Beebe's bee be?

Mr. Kroodsma: "Can you cultivate when the corn is very small?"

Mott: "Yes, if you use a blind cultivator."

Wise Guy: "How many are there in the Beet family?"

Smart Guy: "Five, Mr. Beet, Mrs. Beet, Sugar Beet, Red Beet and Dead Beet."

GET OUT FOR FOOTBALL.

Dolly: "Have you seen anything of Ruth?"

Slosson: "I just 'passed' her down the street a block."

Miss Bennett: "Mr. Perry, recite a few lines of poetry you have learned some time."

Perry: "Water, water, everywhere, but not a drop to drink."

Miss Bennett: "What is that taken from?"

Mott (from back of room): "How Dry I Am."

Doc: "What kind of a house would you prefer, brick, stone, wood, cement———?"

Steve: "Woodhouse."

"He who sitteth on a tack shall rise again."—Lee Davis.

Mr. Lynch: "Machines usually depreciate in value with age."

Prophecy: "Newcomer's kerosene wagon will certainly not run any worse."

Mr. Kroodsma (Eng. Hist. class): "Miss Curtis, who was Stronglow. (Richard de Clare, conqueror of Ireland.)

Miss Curtis (waking up): "I don't know, I guess he was an Indian."

IN 1915.

Pete: "What's the matter? More heat?"

M. V. K.: "No, but I want those clouds brushed away from the windows."

Miss Cole: "In order to save time and trouble he beheaded his second wife instead of waiting for permission from the Pope."

Mr. Lynch (chemistry class): "Mr. McConnell, give Gay Lussac's law."

McConnell: "I thought we were going to clean up today?"

Mr. Lynch: "Then we will start with you."

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Miss Sanford (Eng. Hist.): "In what way did manufacturing first take place in England?"

Smith: "Wool manufacturing."

Perry (Mod. Hist.): "I don't believe there is a hell after we die. I always thought that we got enough of hell on earth."

Ed. Gilchrist (teasingly): "Clara, can't get a fellow."

Clara Davids: "I wish you'd give me a recipe."

Mr. Lynch: "How are matches made?"

Scott: "Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

A woodpecker lit on a Freshman's head
And settled down to drill;
He drilled away for half a day,
And finally broke his bill.

—Stolen.

Student: "If anybody is born in mid-ocean, what is their nationality?"

Teacher: "That of its mother."

Student: "Suppose it's traveling with its aunt?"

Mr. Lynch: "Nine times two is—?"

Queake: "Sixteen."

"What is a whispering gallery?"

"C. H. S."

ON THE LINE.

"Hello! is Howard home?"

"Yes; do you wish to speak to him?"

"Please." (Pause.) "Is this you, Howard?"

"Yes."

"Guess who is speaking."

"That would be too easy."

"You are wonderful at distinguishing voices, Howard."

"Well, how are you Ruth?"

"Ruth who?"

"You, of course."

"This isn't Ruth."

"I beg your pardon."

"Well, I forgive you this time, Howard. You must remember the girl you called up yesterday."

"Oh, sure, I remember, well 'Pat.'"

"No"

"Helen."

"Certainly not, Howard."

"Then it must be Ione."

"Worse yet, guess again."

"Joy."

"Howard Tolbert, your actions are unreasonable."

"Oh! I knew it was you, 'Nick.' (Pause.) "Number, please."

"Nothing wanted Central, we are speaking."

"But you are not connected."

"Well please connect us."

"Nothing doing. She's left the phone."

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Doc: "Is brass wire cast or hard drawn?"

Joy Davids: "Call it cast iron."

She: "So you don't like rice?"

He: "No, I got all I wanted when I made the greatest mistake of my life."

E. N.: "Are you a good cook?"

C. H.: "Yes, I go to church every Sunday."

Miss Cole: "Otto, what is a pauper?"

O. L.: "Oh, some one who is foolish."

Mr. Oberlin: "Supposing a train going 60 miles an hour were kicked by a flea."

"Newe": "It would probably be derailed."

Mr. Lynch (Chem. class): "Name some of the commercial compounds of silicon."

Wm. Smith: "Fly paper and——"

Fay Newcomer: "It's getting colder, I guess I will have to buy me some heavier underwear."

Glenn Waddell: "I guess I'll have to sew up the holes in my poroknit."

Visitor (in laboratory): "I see you have some crape hanging up. Who is dead?"

Mr. Lynch: "Crape? That is not crape; that's the towel."

Marie Shingler: "Gee! I had an awful fright last night."

E. Millenbacher: "Yes, I saw you with him."

Grace Fox (translating German): "A large mirror, behind which was stuck a peacock feather and a bunch of dried cat feathers."

"Little beams of moonshine,
Little hugs and kisses,
Make a little maiden
Change her name to Mrs."

"Little daubs of powder,
Little spots of paint,
Make the little girlies
Look like what they ain't."

A PARAPHRASE.

There is a little girl who gets very sleepy,
She is known by those who know her as Pinky,
She yawns and she yearns for a comfer,
But alas! No one can please her except Bobbie Hunter.

This book you can easily buy,
If twenty-five cents you can double,
And if it's not yours, you had better do that,
And save yourself oceans of trouble.

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

"Could anyone come between us, love?" spoke Glenn to Elsie in accents tender.

"Well," said the younger sister from under the lounge, "He'd have to be awful slender."

She (sweetly, as they sip their tea together): "Isn't this delicious?"

He (assently): "Yes, I love to take it with a little lemon."

"Going to hear that lecture on appendicitis tonight?"

"No, I am tired of those organ recitals."

Senior: "Did you ever take chloroform?"

Freshie: "No, who teaches it?"

"Wind," said a freshman, "is air when it gets in a hurry."

Mr. Kilian to Mr. Lynch: "You are not fit for decent company, come up here with me."

Teacher: "Give me a sentence with the word seldom in it."

Fresh: "Pa had two pigs but he selled'em."

If a body see a body
Flunkin' in a quiz:
If a body help a body
Is it the teacher's biz?

"Will you have your lunch on deck?" asked the cook.

"No, throw it in the ocean, it will save time and trouble."

"They seem a well-mated pair, botanically speaking."

"How's that?"

"Why she's a society bug and he a blooming idiot."

Student: "I want some castor oil."

Druggist: "Some you can't taste!"

Student: "No, it's for the faculty."

Teacher (to little boy who refuses to tell his father's occupation): "You must tell."

Little Boy (tearfully): "He is the fat lady at the museum."

"Johnnie, I have great news for you, I am going to marry your sister. What do you think of that?"

"I think it serves her right."

Man at the door: "Madam, I'm a piano tuner."

The Woman: "I didn't send for a piano tuner."

Man: "I know, but the neighbors did."

Teacher: "What is the plural of baby?"

Pupil: "Twins."

TREASURE,

Rooster: "What's troubling you, my dear?"

Hen: "I've mislaid an egg."

"Tommy," the schoolma'am asked, "Why are you scratching your head?"

"Cause nobody else knows just where it itches."

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

JAIL BIRD, INDEED.

"If you don't mind, sir," said the new convict, addressing the warden, "I would like to be put at my own trade."

"That might be a good idea," said the warden. "What may your trade be?"

"I'm an aviator," said the new arrival.

TRUE COURTESY.

"They tell me you love good music," said the lady, playing at the piano, to her musical friend.

"Oh," said the polite friend, "that doesn't matter. Pray go right on."

DEAL DIRECT.

Overheard in a quiet corner of the ballroom:

He: "I adore you, but unfortunately, I am as poor as Job. Still, I have a rich uncle of sixty who enjoys poor health."

She: "Well, my dear friend, it would be silly to rush head-long into misery; come, be reasonable, give me up and introduce me to your uncle without delay."

BEAST OF BURDEN.

Daughter: "Shall I take an umbrella to post this letter, mother?"

Mother: "No, stay in the house; it isn't a fit night for a dog to be out; let your father post the letter."

A literary woman dropped into the vernacular, bumped against a hard word and split her infinitive. Later Miss Bennett "quenched her thirst in ink."

'T WAS EVER THUS.

The parlor sofa holds the twain,
Miranda and her love-sick swain,
Headshe.

But hark! a step upon the stair,
And papa sees them sitting there,
He and she,
There is a stillness in the air
As papa sizes up the pair,
He and she

and he.
Miranda's ordered off to bed
(We won't repeat what papa said)
As to the door the youth he led,
Pa and he.

Carl McConnell gazes at Doris Sherman.
Mr. Lynch: "Never mind him, he's a flirt."

Miss Cole: "Name the great rivers in the world."
Newcomer: "Thornapple."

Clifford Dernier says: "Love is a crab that crawls up your back-bone until it affects your head and your pocket-book."

The girls could have a good base-ball team judging from some of their "pegs."

DELPHIAN 'FOURTEEN

Mr. Killian: "What is the lesson in arithmetic today, Miss Cass?"

Dorothy Cass: "Oh! We have dismal fractions."

ADVICE TO MARP.

Under this round is all to be found
Of little Johnnie Green;
He went out one night by candle light
To get some gasoline.

Freshmen come into our seats,
Take our paper and our eats,
Leaving nothing in return
Of knowledge they did learn.
Seniors study not a bit
Watching Freshmen think they're it.
Throwing shot at Harold Mott,
Keeping Howard on the trot.

Calling down a Freshman boy
Gives Miss Howard lots of joy,
Students like it, as you see,
And says Miss Howard "Don't watch me."
We honor her for greater things
In spite of notions and her whims,
Prob'ly wiser we would be
If through her eyes we could but see.

R. F.

WHAT THE DELPHIAN
WOULD LIKE TO KNOW

Who said, "Yep, 'twould"?

If the heart of a left-handed girl is on the right side?

Why "Mike" Osborn gets sleepy Monday afternoons?

Who said, "Just that far"?

What "Peanut" Tolbert was doing last summer?

How George Fenn can be too busy to be business manager of the Delphian yet can be star member of the Midnight Crew?

"Why "Bobbie" Curtis "should worry"?

If Eva Millentacher, Celeste Wilson and Ruth Clark are really engaged or bought their diamonds at the fair?

Miss Sanford: What did Napoleon contribute to the world?

Mae Newcomer: His bony part.

Miss Bennett: What age are we living in?

Sowers: Tango age.

Our Business men are loyal and wise,
For in our Delphian they advertise.
Our ads are read both East and West
And all admit they are the best.
At other ads we used to sigh,
Battle Creek's too far and Lansing's dry.
But now we know that in Charlotte
The best of everything can be got.
And besides our money remains in town,
So our city debt is thus kept down.
Therefore, wise men you can plainly see
The profit for you and your town will be.
